

CONTEMPLATIONIS

30.XI 2013.a.D.

During today's Morning Prayer a nice vision of liberal-democratic era knight players brightened me. Everybody was invited so called irrespective religion, social and political belonging, sexual orientation and colour of skin.

The more players, the bigger respect to the memory of knights times. Enthusiastically even indigenous people of the areas slavered by knights play real knights.

The successors of matriculated real knights families call the players united into new knighthoods affectionately: "Our fan club".

For me, as an impartial practician of eternity people, the liberal democratic theories are very fancy. Unfortunately I have had not enough time yet to delve enough into the play-land magic of Francis Fukuyama, but the thought about ending history<sup>i</sup> is after all beautiful involuntarily.

One melodramatic smile to life and life beams to You as well.

Nb! The legitimate bearers of class-legal principle in the liberal democratic society is as before the first class, what is born by the ecclesiastic leaders of recognised religions. Aristocracy is officially recognised only in the states, where the head of the state is monarch.
